

Where do you start?

Where you start depends on where you left the educational system. If you didn't complete high school, read "No high school diploma." If you have a diploma or GED or have been in college before, go to "High school graduates, GED holders and former college students."

No high school diploma

If you didn't complete high school, you can:

- Take high school courses and get a high school diploma.
- Take General Educational Development (GED) classes and earn a high school equivalency diploma.
- Talk with a college admissions officer to see if you can be admitted under "ability-to-benefit" provisions.

Some school districts let adults earn diplomas through adult schools, many of which hold classes at night.

You may also be able to take online classes through Kentucky Virtual Adult Education (KYVAE). To be eligible, you must be at least 16 years old, not be enrolled in high school and either live or work in Kentucky. You'll need a computer with Internet access and an e-mail account. After you register online, your county's adult education center will contact you.

Many adults study for the GED Tests at local adult education centers. See pages 9–14 for a list of adult education programs by county.

To earn your GED, you must pass five tests that assess writing, reading, social studies, science and math. The tests are given at official test centers and are not available online.

All candidates must have a Kentucky mailing address, meet eligibility requirements, pass the Official Practice Test and complete the KYAE-6 application form.

You may take the tests if you're at least 19 years old or at least 16 years old and have been officially withdrawn from school for 90 days as certified by the local school district.

To prepare for the tests, you can:

- Enroll in an adult education GED preparation class in your county. See pages 9–14, call Kentucky Adult Education at 800.928.7323 or visit www.kyae.ky.gov for the center nearest you.
- Enroll in GED on TV, broadcast on Kentucky Educational Television (KET). Call 800.538.4433 for information.

If you require special accommodations, contact Kentucky Adult Education, Department of Postsecondary Education, Suite 250, 1024 Capital Center Drive, Frankfort, KY 40601, telephone 502.573.5114.

GED Testing Centers are located throughout the state. Contact your local center for test dates. See pages 15–17.

High school graduates, GED holders and former college students

The admissions office of the school you plan to attend can help you get started. If the school has an office that serves nontraditional students, that would be the best place to start. (See Part III for addresses and telephone numbers of these offices.)

You can also contact an area Educational Opportunity Center (EOC) for help with admissions and financial aid questions.

Educational Opportunity Centers (EOC) and Talent Search (TS) Programs

EOC and TS programs help people entering or reentering college. These programs provide educational and financial aid counseling as well as encouragement and support. EOC and TS programs are part of the Federal TRIO Programs and offer free services to students.

EOCs provide adults 19 and older with information about educational opportunities. EOC counselors can help with college admissions and financial aid applications, career advice and tutoring. Financial aid forms can be filed electronically at some EOC locations, saving time and reducing errors. EOCs can also provide information about academic programs at local colleges, universities and GED programs.

TS programs provide educational guidance, counseling and academic support services to help middle and high school students and people who haven't completed secondary or postsecondary education enter or reenter those programs. All participants must have the potential to complete secondary school and undertake postsecondary education.

TS participants must be between 11 and 27, but TS programs can serve older adults if there is no EOC in the service area. A TS program provides information about admissions requirements, scholarships and other financial aid programs and career counseling. In addition, program participants receive help with completing and submitting admissions and financial aid applications.

See page 7 for a list of EOCs and page 8 for a list of TS centers.
