

If you need private student loans

If grants, scholarships and federal loans don't cover all your college expenses, you may consider a private student loan. Private loans generally do not offer as many repayment options as do federal loans.

The KHEAA Student Loan Marketplace is an online resource that lets you and your family learn about and compare private loans from several lenders.

The marketplace completes the task of shopping for the loan without your taking the hit or hits on your credit report.

With just one visit to www.kheaamarketplace.com you can:

- Complete and submit a simple personal information form.
- Invite a cosigner to apply with you.
- View personalized loan products based on your financial information, not “as low as” advertisements.
- Receive accurate and detailed information from multiple lenders for which you are prequalified with only one credit check.
- Sort and compare side-by-side up to three loan products at a time based on the terms that are important to you.
- E-mail your loan choices to your cosigner or trusted advisor for review.
- Make your selection through the Marketplace.
- Communicate directly with the selected lender.
- Keep your information private because only the lender you select sees your application.
