COLLEGE ADMISSIONS CHECKLIST

Remember: Keep copies of everything. If you're sending applications or other important documents by mail, you might want to spend a little extra money and send them return receipt requested. This will let you know when the school received the documents. Some of the items on this list might not apply to every school. For example, few public colleges require an entrance essay; many private colleges do. You should check to make sure that people writing recommendations or sending transcripts do so by the deadline. And you shouldn't wait until the deadline to send something in — send it in early just in case something goes wrong.

FINANCIAL AID CHECKLIST

Remember: Keep copies of everything. When you file your FAFSA online at https://studentaid.gov/, be sure to print out a hard copy for your records. If you're applying for scholarships and grants administered by the school that require a separate application, you should send the application return receipt requested. And, as always, don't wait until the last minute — things can go wrong. Computers crash, and mail occasionally gets lost. If you file early and keep track of what you've been doing, you have time to fix things.

August/September

- □ Ask colleges you're interested in to send you admissions information.
- □ If you're applying for Early Decision, start filling out the forms to meet the college's deadline.
- □ If you haven't taken the ACT/SAT or if you think you can do better, register. See page 7 for dates.
- Get with your counselor to find out about the financial aid sources available to you.
 Use KHEAA–Alabama's Affording Higher Education.
- □ Ask your parents to get their tax return information ready so you can submit the FAFSA as soon as possible after October 1.

October/November

- □ Meet with college admissions representatives at college fairs or when they visit your school.
- □ Attend a financial aid seminar if your school offers one. Read page 21 about scams first.
- □ If you haven't picked a college yet, narrow your list by visiting schools and talking with students. You should probably talk with your parents too.
- □ If you're going Early Decision, most schools want the applications submitted about now.
- □ If you're going through the regular admissions process, it's time to ask teachers to write recommendations and to polish your admissions essay if you have to write one.
- □ Check with each school's financial aid office to see what financial aid forms they require in addition to the FAFSA.

December/January

- Make sure your applications were received on time. See previous page for admissions and financial aid checklists.
- □ If you went Early Decision and were accepted, withdraw your applications from other schools.

February/March

- □ Submit mid-year grades if the colleges you've applied to require them.
- □ Send in any deposits that are required.
- If you've been accepted by more than one college but haven't heard from your first choice, contact that school about a decision before you make any nonrefundable deposits to other schools.
- If you've decided on which school to attend, notify that college of your decision. Let any other colleges that have accepted you know about your decision.

April/May

- □ Follow up on your financial aid package. See next page for information about comparing packages.
- □ If you're going to need student loans, compare the benefits offered by the various lenders your college uses.
- □ Take AP tests if you're enrolled in AP courses.
- □ If you're on a waiting list at a school you really want to attend, ask the director of admissions how to strengthen your application.

June

- □ Let your high school counselor know which school you're going to so the school can send in final grades, class rank and proof of graduation.
- Send thank-you notes to counselors, teachers and others who helped you through the process.
- □ Prepare a budget for the coming school year.

Instructions: If you're considering more than three schools, print out several copies of this page before proceeding. Select the schools for evaluation and write their names on the slanted lines. Answer the questions for each school. (If the answer is "yes," mark a " \checkmark " in the column. If the answer is "no," make an " \checkmark " in the column.) What are your findings?

SCHOOL EVALUATION
Does the school offer the educational program you want?
If you're admitted to the school, are you also admitted into the educational program you want?
Is the school accredited by an agency accepted by the U.S. Department of Education (e.g., Southern Association of Colleges and Schools, Council on Occupational Education, Accrediting Commission of Career Schools and Colleges, National Accrediting Commission of Cosmetology Arts and Sciences, Association for Biblical Higher Education)?
Is the school licensed or approved by the appropriate state government agency (e.g., Alabama Commission on Higher Education, Department of Postsecondary Education, Alabama State Department of Education, Alabama Board of Cosmetology, Alabama Board of Funeral Service)?
Is the school approved for federal and state financial aid programs?
Does the school have the resources to provide you the education you need to be successful in the work force? Look for up-to-date training devices, developmental course work and/or tutorial assistance, general education courses (e.g., English and math), educational qualifications of the faculty, and library holdings and resources related to your field of study.
Will completion of the educational program qualify you for a job? An exam and/or apprenticeship may also be required. If a licensing examination is required for employment in your career field (e.g., nursing, cosmetology, or law), do a high percentage of the school's graduates pass the exam?
Does the school have a job placement program? Is it free? Are a high percentage of graduates placed in jobs? Recent graduates and potential employers can help you answer these questions. A good school will give you a list of contacts.
Does the typical starting salary for a new graduate of the school's educational program compare favorably with that of graduates from the same educational program at other schools? Does it meet with your expectation? If the school provides such data, ask to see detailed statistics substantiating the school's claim.
Does the enrollment contract (if required) clearly indicate the complete cost of your course of study? Are all necessities (books, room and board, transportation, tools, uniforms, etc.) included in the cost? Schools must make printed cost-of-education information readily available to prospective students upon request.
Does the enrollment contract contain language to protect you if the school closes or discontinues your program? Call the Better Business Bureau in the area to find out if the school has had problems.
Does the school have a printed refund policy? Good schools have a reasonable refund arrangement for students who withdraw from school.
Does the school have a low withdrawal rate? A high rate may be a warning sign.
Will credits earned at one school be acceptable for transfer to another? If you plan to enter one school but transfer to another school, will your credits transfer?
Does the school have a low student loan default rate? Call the U.S. Department of Education at (800) 433-3243 to check a school's default rate. A high default rate may be a warning sign.

Notes

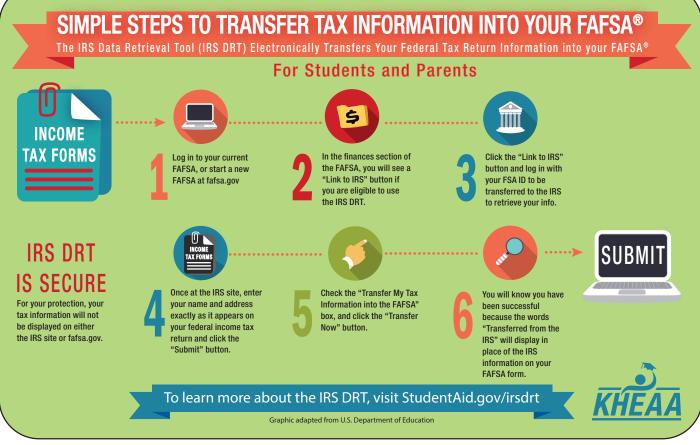

Whose information do I use?

The intent of the FAFSA is to get an idea of your household income. Use the guide on page 2 to determine if you are a dependent student. If you are dependent, use this guide to figure out which parent's information to include.

- Are your parents married to each other? If yes, then report information for both parents on the FAFSA.
- O Do your parents live together? If yes, then report information for both parents on the FAFSA, even if they were never married, are divorced, or are separated.
- O Did you live with one parent more than the other over the past 12 months?
 - If yes, then report information on the FAFSA for the parent you lived with more. Also, if this parent remarried, you will need to report information for your stepparent on the FAFSA even though he or she may not be responsible for your college costs.
 - If no, then report information on the FAFSA for the parent who provided more financial support over the past 12 months or in the last year you received support. Also, if this parent is remarried, you will need to report information for your stepparent on the FAFSA.

The following people are NOT your parents UNLESS they have legally adopted you:

- O Widowed stepparents
- O Grandparents
- O Foster parents
- O Legal guardians
- Older brothers or sisters
- O Aunts or uncles

Helpful Hints

Assets

- Asset net worth means current value of the assets minus what is owed on those assets.
- Assets include: money in cash, savings, and checking accounts; businesses (over 100 employees); investment farms; other investments, such as real estate (other than the home in which you live); UGMA and UTMA accounts for which you are the owner; stocks, bonds, certificates of deposit, etc.
- Assets do not include: the home and farm where you live; UGMA and UTMA accounts for which you are the custodian but not the owner; value of life insurance; retirement plans (401[k] plans, pension funds, annuities, non-education IRAs, Keogh plans, etc.)

Communication

 Use a personal email (not school) that you check often for the FSA ID and the FAFSA. You will receive IMPORTANT information and directions via email.

Data security

- Each email address or mobile phone number can be used with only one FSA ID. If you share an email address with someone else, then only one of you will be able to use that email address to create an FSA ID. This applies to your mobile phone number too.
- Keep track of all usernames and passwords in a safe, secure place. You will need your FSA ID every year you complete a FAFSA, as well as to log in to all Department of Education websites.

First year college students

- The grade level for high school seniors and first-year students will be "Never attended college and 1st year undergraduate" even if you have taken AP or dual credit courses.
- The question "What degree or certificate will you be working on when you begin the 2021–2022 school year?" is referring to the category or type of program and NOT college major. Refrain from choosing "Other/ undecided." First-year college students will not be in a graduate program.

Important information

- Name and Social Security number need to match what is on your Social Security card and tax forms, if applicable.
- Tax filers should use the IRS Data Retrieval Tool to transfer income information from the IRS to the FAFSA if possible (both student and parent).
- Review confirmation page and check your email as an indicator the FAFSA was submitted correctly.

Website navigation

- To get clarification and guidance for each data field, click on the question mark ? next to each data box to show HELP text.
- The top of the screen will indicate whose information is needed on that page, either STUDENT or PARENT. When the FAFSA says "you," it is referring to the student (not the parent).
- O Make sure that you select the correct form. High school seniors graduating in 2021 will need to complete the 2021–2022 FAFSA.
- Your FAFSA will reset after 45 days if it isn't submitted.

Next Steps

Verification

Colleges are required to verify the information provided on some FAFSAs. Most people selected for verification are picked at random.

If you're selected for verification, you'll be contacted by the college. The college or, in some cases, an agency with which the college has contracted will let you know what forms and information you need to supply.

If you are chosen for verification, DON'T PANIC. YOU HAVE DONE NOTHING WRONG!

Don't delay. It's important to complete verification as soon as you're notified so there are no delays with your financial aid.

Special circumstances

If you believe you have special circumstances that were not accurately reflected on your FAFSA, contact the financial aid office at the college you plan to attend.

Award notifications

Once your FAFSA has been processed, your award notifications will come from the college(s) you listed on your FAFSA, once you've been accepted. Some colleges begin sending award colleges begin sending award letters in the fall, but many will wait until the spring.
